

Come Home

You didn't say where you were going
But you're due back any day
We've been through this a thousand times before
And you know you've got it made

If love was just a passing thing
We'd be satisfied passing through
But as it is, it comes and it goes
So I know I'll be seeing you

Ah but you know you never have to worry
We always work it out some how
Besides you never leave without the back door key
So what are you waiting for? You can come home right now

I know if I'm gonna live with you
I've got to let you come and go as you please
But I can't help but be lonesome tonight
When I wonder if your lonesome for me

Ah but you know you never have to worry
We always work it out some how
Besides you never leave without the back door key
So what are you waiting for? You can come home right now

You didn't say where you were going
But you're due back any day
We've been through this a thousand times before
And you know you've got it made

You don't have to be lonesome. Come home.
