

I'll Never Know

Went to a dance on the other side of town
Man, the band was swinin' like to bring the damn roof down
All cuz of one little honey, she had all the boys abuzz
There was somethin' about her and we all wondered what it was
Her eyes seemed to speak as she moved across the floor
They said, Why don't you show me what I'm lookin' for?

Well, I stepped right up and I took her by the hand
And we danced so fast, man, we almost beat the band
I spun her all around the room just like a hurricane
But that look in her eyes was still drivin' me insane
I said, I'll be right back if you want to dance some more
She said, Come here and show me what I'm lookin' for

Well, she might say yes, and then, she might say no
I better make my move, or else I'll never know

Anyone who claims a dance is just a dance
Doesn't know a thing about the rhythm of romance
A spin ain't just a spin, a twirl ain't just a twirl
It might take more than all I've got to tango with this girl

All alone in the men's room, splashing water on my face
I could still hear the band, they were really pickin' up the pace
So I took a deep breath, went back for a second round
But her talkin' eyes, they were nowhere to be found
Till I saw her with a man, they were headin' out the door
I guess he showed her what she's lookin' for

Well, she might-a said yes, and then, she might-a said no
I didn't make my move, I guess I'll never know

Well, she might-a said yes, and then, she might-a said no
I didn't make my move, I guess I'll never know

No, I didn't make my move, I guess I'll never know
